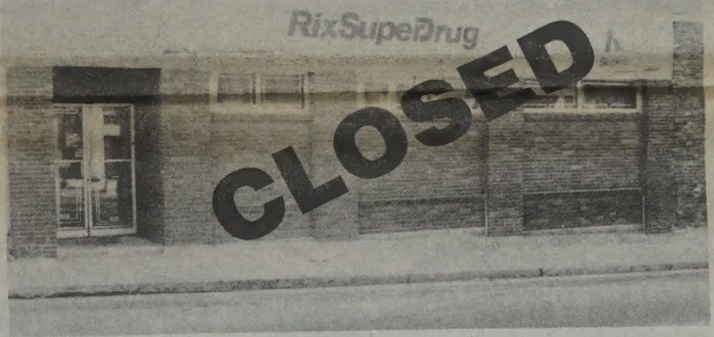
Here Today - Gone Tomorrow!



By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - Rix Super Drug, located at 108 Elm Street, was scheduled to close its doors for good on Friday May 11, at 1:00 p.m. The Auburndale based chain opened its Millbury store on June 8, 1987 when it merged with the former Ballard Drug.

Rix District Manager Don Bartlett blamed problems with third party billing as well as the state's economic condition for the closing.

The Elm Street property is leased to Rix by Lincoln Stowe of Millbury. There are still two more years remaining on the lease. With no announced plans for the building, it is expected to remain vacant until the lease expires.

Bartlett explained that customers' prescription files were sold to Apple Drug. "You have to, by law, make arrangements for someone to handle the prescription files, that's a board of pharmacy regulation that has to be taken care of," he said. "You have to keep your files intact for seven years; it's mandatory." Apple Drug owner Harold Boucher would not comment on the sale of the files.

The Elm Street store employed eight, including two pharmacists. Bartlett was asked how the employees reacted to news of the closing. "No one was pleased, obviously, as we were not please to be closing it," he said. "Some personnel are being reassigned to other stores; some are willing to drive to our closest store which is in the Framingham/ Natick area."

Several of Millbury's senior citizens who live at Centerview Apartments expressed concern over the closing since the store's close proximity to the Apartments made it convenient to pick up prescriptions or shop for cards or the occasional gift. Centerview resident Ida L. Taylor has been a faithful customer of the former Ballard Pharmacy since it was located on lower Elm Street. "I've always stayed with them," she said. "I've always appreciated them; they've been very good, very prompt." It is somewhat ironic that Ms. Taylor pointed out that Rix was offering its customers a Rix credit card. "I just filled mine out yesterday," she said.

Both she and Frances Hartigan, another Centerview resident, were surprised that Rix did not notify its customers in advance. "That's always nice that they don't tell us these things," Ms. Taylor said. "Why didn't they tell the public," she asked.

"I never heard of such a thing," Ms. Hartigan remarked. "Wouldn't you think they'd have let us know."

Former customers of Rix should not be concerned about having their prescriptions refilled. To have a Rix prescription refilled, take your empty container to any pharmacy. The pharmacist will call your doctor for the renewal.

Beacon Hill Roll Call

With today's paper, the Millbury-Sutton Chronicle begins coverage of the Massachusetts legislature with its weekly feature "Beacon Hill Roll Call." The column is a clear and concise compilation of the voting records of area state representatives and senators on Beacon Hill.

This year, more than 8000 bills have been filed for consideration. "Beacon Hill Roll Call" provides a summary and analysis of each bill, as well as arguments from the floor on each side of the issue. Combined with each official's vote or lack of vote on the issue, the column gives readers an opportunity to monitor their state legislators' actions at the State House. The number of each bill is also included and, since many bills are reported when they receive initial approval, readers have the opportunity to contact their elected officials and express their feelings before the measure is up for final approval.

This column is prepared by Bob Katzen of Bay State News Service. Katzen is a former special assistant to Congressman Michael J. Harrington of Massachusetts. He has also covered the legislature for WRKO Radio in Boston and was the host of a call in radio talk show on WMRE Radio in Boston.

The Chronicle will be publishing the votes of Senator John Houston (D-Worcester), and Representatives Richard Moore (D-Uxbridge) and Paul Kollios (D-Millbury).

MASSACHUSETTS SENATE
April 30-May 4

CONCON - Senate 21-17, rejected an order that the Senate adjourn and meet again in a second legislative day. Approval of the order would allow the Senate to act on a motion calling for a Constitutional Convention on May 9. Supporters of the order said the convention must be called by May 9 or the legislature will not be able to act on an important proposed constitutional amendment protecting a woman's right to an abortion. Some opponents said they oppose the amendment and the convention while others said members need more time to study the matter.

Houston voted for a second legislative day.

MINORS AND DRUGS (S 151) - Senate 33-2, refused to postpone until July 2 a bill establishing a mandatory five year jail sentence for anyone who uses a person under 18 to help sell or distribute drugs. Postponement supporters said mandatory sentences cost money and urged postponement until the state deals with the fiscal crisis. Opponents said the bill will send a message and help stop the use of kids by drug dealers. Houston voted against the postponement.

THE HOUSE
April 30-May 4

EMERGENCY BUDGET (H5695) - House 110-40, suspended rules to allow immediate consideration of a $50 million supplemental budget to replenish some near empty state accounts. Supporters said 95% of this money is for health care and noted the Governor needs approval of both Ways and Means Committees before he spends the money. Opponents said the bill gives the Governor a blank check to spend the money anywhere and will put the state deeper into debt. Both Moore and Kollios voted for the rule suspension.

RULING OF CHAIR (J 5695) - House 120-30, upheld the Speaker's action ruling out of order an amendment prohibiting spending of any supplemental budget money until the legislature passes local aid resolutions. Ruling supporters said the amendment goes beyond the scope of the bill. Opponents said communities have to know the amount of local aid in order to deal with their local budgets. Moore and Kollios voted for the ruling.

IMPOUNDMENT (H 5695) - House 111-42, approved an amendment prohibiting the Governor from impounding any of the $50 million supplemental budget. Amendment supporters said it is outrageous for the Governor to have this impoundment power. Opponents said the issue should be dealt with in a separate bill. Moore and Kollios voted for the amendment.

EARMARK (H 5695) House 82-70, approved an amendment earmarking the accounts that can receive money from the $50 million budget. Amendment supporters said this will allow the legislature, not the Governor, to determine the use of the money. Opponents said the amendment will result in long debate and will delay the process. Moore voted in favor of earmarking the accounts; Kollios voted against the amendment.

PICK-UP TRUCKS (H 3404) - House 77-70, rejected an amendment striking the key section of a bill prohibiting children under 12 from riding in the back of a pick-up truck except on farm vehicles or trucks in parades. Amendment supporters said this prohibition is another example of government interference in private and family decisions. Opponents said this safety measure will save lives and prevent injuries. Moore voted to prohibit children under 12 in the back of pick-up trucks; Kollios voted in favor of the amendment.

ASSAULT WEAPONS (H 3047) - House 89-53, rejected a bill placing on the ballot a non-binding question banning the sale and use of assault weapons. Supporters said the people should have a right to vote on this important issue. Opponents said this is a non-binding question which will do nothing to stop crime and will only clutter up the ballot. Both Moore and Kollios voted against the bill.

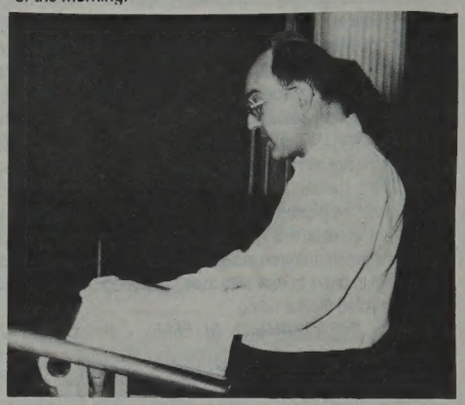
From My Window on Farnsworth Court

By "Pastor Rae" Cameron

"For the Word of God is powerful...." We are finding this to be more true every day. Our 24 hours of Bible reading as part of National Day of Prayer, the first Thursday of May, was really dynamic, and we did it.

It was a cooperative effort on the part of the member churches of the Millbury/Sutton Ecumenical Cluster. Each church took a time slot that was filled with lay readers, and then the clergy filled in time slots during the very early hours of the morning.



Charles King, minister of music at the Millbury Baptist Church, participated in the National Day of Prayer.

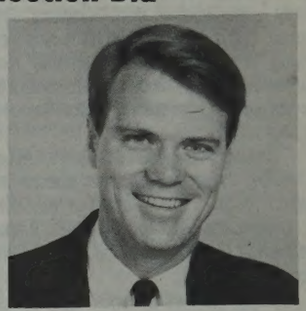
Lois Cameron and Delores Zelenak follow along in their Bibles.

We started with a service at St. Brigid's, and in dedication to the Bible we came forward and laid hands on the Bible; a very moving experience. Then we had a processional to the Millbury Baptist Church where at 7:00 p.m. we began our reading with the New Testament. It took eight hours to read through the four Gospels, another two hours to go through the Acts, over seven hours to do the Epistles, and another hour to do Revelation. We started on the Old Testament, and took four hours for Genesis and two hours into Exodus when we ran out of time. We finished with a service which included testimonies of many blessings during the 24 hours. Our thanks to the many who were a part of this unique and exciting experience.

Monsignor Roberts of Assumption Church tells me that they had 45 very excited people study the Book of Acts. Millbury Baptist Church has a Discovery Group that has been meeting for over 20 years that has started reading through the Bible and is now at the book of Jeremiah.

This interest in Bible reading and study is all part of a very quiet revival that is beginning right here in our area and throughout New England. Amen, and Amen again.

Houston Announces Re-election Bid



BOSTON - State Senator John P. Houston (D-Worcester), has announced his candidacy for re-election in the 1st Worcester and Middlesex District (Worcester Wards 5-8, and the towns of Millbury, Sutton, Grafton, Hopedale, Hopkinton, Leicester, Northborough, Upton and Westborough).

Houston, 35, of 330 Sunderland Road, said he would work hard to set the state on a new course, "one that provides better services for less and looks out for all citizens.

"I will continue to push for cutting waste and restructuring state programs for budget savings," he said. Houston pointed to the passage of a $200 million long-term savings plan for Medicaid as one of his successes on this front.

"Cuts alone are not the answer," he said. "We cannot set a better course for the state without funding our public schools and nursing home care for our loved ones."

Houston also said he will fight against "family budget busters" that threaten the standard of living in Massachusetts: auto insurance, health insurance, and housing costs. Houston cited his bill to freeze senior citizens' Medex rates as one example of his efforts.

Houston said a strong Central Massachusetts will be necessary to get the state moving. He said he was active in the efforts to defend Norton Company from BTR's hostile takeover attempt, to save Rutland Heights Hospital, and to come up with an alternative plan for financing a Worcester Convention Center.

He is the Senate Chair of the Human Services Committee and Chair of the Senate Rules Reform Caucus, which is pushing for televising Senate sessions.

He has maintained a district office in Worcester since 1985, as promised in his first campaign.

Houston recently received the Kit Clark award for his "Outstanding Service to the Senior Citizens of Massachusetts" and received the Worcester-Framingham AFL-CIO award for Outstanding Service.

Houston was raised in Worcester and Auburn and graduated from St. John's HIgh School and Wesleyan University. He worked with Industrial Suppliers of Worcester and for Joe Kennedy's Citizens' Energy Corporation prior to his election to the State Senate.

Another Point of View

THE NATICK LAB - A NATIONAL TREASURE

By Lawrence Moore

A few weeks ago our Retired Men's Club and guests toured the Natick Research, Development and Engineering Center. Colonel John F. Duff of Sutton, the Deputy Commander, was our host. Natick Lab employs 1050 civilians and 100 military personnel. It was built in 1953 on a former sand pit donated by the town of Natick. All agreed the tour was informative, exciting and surprising.

Natick Lab conducts food, clothing, and shelter research for the Army. The fall-off of Natick Research is felt throughout the Armed Services, the Government and Civilian life. In the future, in the interest of efficiency and economy, it is hoped Natick will soon take over similar research for the Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Interestingly, some of what we take for granted in our daily lives was originally developed at Natick for the Service. Among much else, Tang and Gore-Tex were developed, and cold weather gear sold by L.L. Bean was researched and tested at Natick.

Wars on the scale of WWI and WWII are no longer contemplated, but peace cannot be taken for granted. While we talk of the "peace initiative" among the great powers, small regional conflicts rage throughout the world. If the United States in an emergency should have to take quick action, or immediate action, allowing no time for planning, it is necessary to be prepared. When that day comes, it will be necessary for us to proceed with what we have ready to go. Compared with other countries, not only Russia, but Japan, France, Germany, China, India and Pakistan, our effort in R & D is small. In France, for instance, the arms industry is part of the Government; French munitions and equipment are being sold around the world.

In order to take best care of our troops in "brush fire" or "police" situations, Natick Laboratories does research so that our troops will be fed, protected and sheltered with the most modern and most effective materials available.

Natick does integrated research with universities and with industry, some subsidized; research that industry, because of the necessity for quick pay-off, cannot do. Frequently, Natick takes a commercial product, such as an umbrella tent, and improves and converts it for military use. Research is conducted at Natick but the know-how is funneled back into industry for marketing.

The "technical transfer" program announced by Governor Dukakis some weeks ago is important for Massachusetts. Research contracts with universities and industries are planned. This impacts on the educational system in Massachusetts. Masters and doctoral degree work are being conducted at Natick, in many cases the students being helped by minimum wage payments.

OK, you ask, what was informative, exciting and surprising? A package of a dozen hamburger buns, in what looked like an aluminum foil container was broken open and the buns sampled. The rolls tasted great, were soft but were firmer than factory baked bread. Our tour guide informed us that the bread we had eaten was three years old, and contained no preservatives. They have found a way, without chemicals or additives, to extend the shelf life of many products. Can you imagine what this will do to the cost of food if this technique is extended to other products?

All food is developed in accordance to specifications of the Surgeon General of the United States with regard to caloric and nutritional content. Food is developed to supply men for one day or for as much as 30 days. The 30 day package weighs only 30 pounds. Special foods have been developed for cold climates, hot climates, and for desert conditions. Our guide opened another foil package no bigger than that in which a pound of raisins is sold, inserted two teaspoons of water, and in a short time the package began to steam. Enough heat is generated to heat a full meal.

Much of the food developed is freeze dried, a process which was invented at Natick, but the requirement now is that it must be tasty and appealing. In order to assure this, tests are continually conducted by troop "product sampling".

Now, you say, if you need to supply a man with food for 30 days, what are the circumstances under which he might need such a supply? Several eventualities are anticipated. Sometimes the man is dropped into the Arctic and unpredicted storms come up which make it impossible for him to be evacuated. In addition to his food requirements, Natick has developed cold weather clothing which enables men to survive in temperatures as low as 25 degrees below zero for several days. Shoes have been developed, and will soon be available commercially, which enable a man to exist in below freezing weather for two full days without movement, without freezing his feet. Garments have been developed which keep a man warm when inactive in cold climates, but which breathe and "wick out" the perspiration that occurs when he becomes active. Frequently men freeze because their perspiration freezes.

These extremes of temperature are replicated in the "climatic chamber", a national asset since it is the only one in existence. It is capable of generating temperatures of minus 65 degrees below zero and 125 degrees above zero. It is the only facility that has the capability of providing infinite humidity, wind and temperature ranges.

How did we get that soldier down into the Arctic in the first place? We saw a variety of parachute materials and types for individual personnel drops up to the capability for dropping a load of 42,000 pounds or 21 tons. They're shooting for 60,000 pounds. Parachutes and protective clothing have been developed so that men can be dropped from an altitude of 25,000 feet (almost 5 miles) or as low as 300 feet. This is a technique which was used in Panama, to avoid radar detection. Equipment can be unloaded from planes at almost ground level. The tail of the plane is opened, a parachute is deployed, and a skid load of a truck, tank or a pallet of material are pulled out of the airplane without the airplane stopping. If a truck or tank, maintenance equipment, supplies and ammunition are dropped by parachute, much time can be spent in assembly. The service now has the capability of dropping these items tethered so that when they land they are close to each other.

OK, we've got the guy down and we've got his equipment. How are we going to shelter him? Everything from a one man to a five man tent, which can be erected in just a few minutes, to a complete Army Hospital, can be dropped and assembled in a very short time. Communication and control facilities can likewise be packaged so that they are ready for use as soon as they hit the ground. A complete "Mash" unit can be dropped and set up in minutes.

Colby Fillilpelli led the Cubs' offense.

In the second game, the Yankees squeaked out a 5-4 victory over the Pirates at the all new Veterans Athletic Field in Manchaug. The Yankees got a fine pitching performance from Matt Stockhaus while the Pirates used fireballing Adam Petkus.

We saw Kevlar helmets that had been through the Panama invasion dented by bullets. Kevlar is used in protective clothing, not only in the services but also in saving the lives of hundreds of law enforcement officers.

One of the surprising and exciting projects is the attempt through bio-technology to duplicate the thread of a three inch large tropical spider found to be stronger than Kevlar. They've also discovered that there is something in the shell of a cockroach which is strong and pliable; its genetic make-up is being analyzed for duplication.

We saw at least six different kinds of parachute drop clothing, all designed to protect the soldier. Our landing techniques and protective devices are such that a soldier can actually jump with a load exceeding his own weight ... that load being 180 lbs. That load also will land a Stinger missile ready to fire as soon as the soldier hits the ground.

Now that we've got the soldier on the ground, how do we camouflage him? The camouflage problem has as many variations as the food or shelter problem. It's now necessary to be prepared for camouflage in the Arctic, in the desert and among greenery. The whole color concept of camouflage is changing.

Important in camouflage is the ability to conceal a soldier from an enemy using night glasses. We each had a chance to look through two types of night glasses similar to those we have seen on television programs and "Hot Shot" military movies. You might say, why is this necessary? The Russians, to name only one, are far ahead of us in the development of night vision equipment. In camouflage, as in all other clothing, the objective is to have it lighter and more protective, to withstand specific variances in temperature and weather.

Our last session was a demonstration of tele-video capability, which enables as many as 25 different locations to engage in a simultaneous, face-to-face and mouth-to-ear meeting. It is all operated through the Telstar II satellite, of AT&T. Remember that the electric light bulb, the telephone, the automobile, radio and television itself, were all originally derided as futuristic dreams of imaginative inventors.

Advantage? Think how much it would cost in time and transportation to bring together people from two, three or four locations around the country. Instead, the cameras pan to whichever speaker in the room is talking. Blackboard presentations can be broadcast. Plans can be transmitted, either by projecting transparencies or opaques, and can be changed on the spot. A photocopy of either a person, the blackboard or the graphic can be made, so that all concerned have a copy of what has been agreed upon. Let your imagination visualize the utmost. This system is capable of delivering it. It is presently limited, however, to a "one-on-one" secure channel interchange using scramblers and wire transmission. It is hoped by the end of the year to expand the secure capability.

From another point of view, why should we continue this R & D activity? Today's world is not as secure as it might be. We may be called upon to use armed forces at a moment's notice in limited warfare conditions. Our troops will be supplied, sheltered and protected with the best that is available should that eventuality come to pass. But even more than that, the work of the Natick Laboratory has had more transference to civilian life per dollar spent than any other activity in which the military engages. It's one of the ways that enables us to do at lower cost the kind of research that our large companies do not have the stomach for. The technical transfer of Natick Labs activities has touched every person in our country and in many parts of the world, and its effect will continue to be felt long after the Star Wars and Peace Keeper missiles are forgotten.

Think of it another way. As opposed to armament, everything that the Natick Lab does is designed to save lives or to improve the quality of our lives. That is the best use we can make of our defense dollars.

Among the events being planned for Heritage Homecoming are: a Civil War encampment and battle re-enactment in Uxbridge, senior citizen walkathon, dinner-dance at Pleasant Valley Country Club, tours of historic homes, and many other activities. Salary Dispute Tops Agenda

By Edward J. Cooney

MILLBURY - The School Committee met in a 45 minute session prior to Town Meeting on May 1. Present were Chairman Chet Hanratty and members Alan Marble and Bruce Pease.

Substitute Pay

Lori Hamilton and Joanne Stowe were present to discuss Hamilton's pay as a substitute teacher. Hamilton was objecting to the fact that she was paid a regular substitute's pay of $55 per day for her first 15 days of employment as opposed to the $75 per day she said she should have received from day one as a permanent substitute.

Hanratty opened the discussion by asking Hamilton if she wanted to make a statement. Hamilton said there was no question in her mind that she was going to be paid from the 1st day of employment as a permanent substitute at $75.00 per day. She said she was never told there was a policy to the contrary. "I went from an aide to a permanent substitute, doing all the duties of a permanent substitute. Currently I receive $4.00 more than an aide," she said. "I was never told about the policy until four weeks into my duties. As to the 15 day policy, I was never told. I would never have accepted the job under that condition."

Hanratty asked Hamilton if any administrator had confirmed the $75 per day with her.

Hamilton replied that she spoke with Mrs. Stowe but money was not discussed. "Mrs. Stowe was the only administrator I had contact with. It was expected I would have the duties of a permanent substitute," Hamilton said. "Why wouldn't I receive it ($75 per day). Why would I have any questions that I wouldn't be paid ($75 per day)?"

Hanratty said a policy was created some "five, six or seven" years ago. "I am well familiar with the policy that after the first 15 days a person receives $75," he said. "Who led you to believe, whether an administrator or anyone else, that you would receive $75."

Hamilton said that after speaking with Mrs. Stowe about her duties she should have been told that she would not be paid the $75 from day one.

Stowe then said there were two separate issues involved. "I first would like to inform the committee it was never a question of Lori's ability," she said. "She has assumed the responsibility and has worked well with the students. As to the second issue that has come up regarding salaries, Lori Hamilton assumed the responsibilities of a full time teacher on February 26. In the middle of March, Lori raised questions as to pay. When a question is raised relative to salary, I tell the staff to speak to Dr. Sylvia or the Business Manager. Lori Hamilton is no exception to this case."

Stowe said the first she heard of this issue was on April 7 when Sylvia reviewed with her what had transpired at the school committee meeting the night before. "That morning I met with Lori Hamilton, Tom Murray and Dr. Sylvia. At that time," Stowe said, "I reviewed with Lori that I never made the statement relative to salary and that I personally resent being used as a bargaining point regarding her salary dispute." Stowe also said that salaries fall within the jurisdiction of the superintendent and the school committee.

Hamilton said it was never her intention to use Stowe as a bargaining chip. "However," Hamilton said, "I do feel I was not being informed of the rate of compensation. It was four weeks into my duties before I was informed what I was to be paid for work I had already done."

Hanratty asked Hamilton if she was asking to receive retroactive pay for the first 15 days.

"Yes," Hamilton replied, "because I don't feel that being in charge of the classroom, planning, involvement in staff meetings and on a curriculum committee are the duties of a day to day substitute."

Sylvia said he explained to Hamilton that he has two very similar circumstances involving two other teachers who serve as permanent substitutes and were paid $55 for the first 15 days. He also said he told Hamilton that she has been doing a fine job in the classroom and that he appreciated that. "I told her I was firm on this because I was trying to be consistent," Sylvia said. "If you were to do anything to the contrary then the other two substitutes would be eligible for the $75."

Hamilton then asked Sylvia if the practice has been applied consistently throughout the system in other years.

"We are talking about this year," Sylvia replied, "and that's all I want to talk about and address is about this year." He did say there may have been exceptions in the past but because he has personally been involved with the budget this year, he has consistently followed the $55 for the first 15 days and $75 thereafter.

Tom Murray, president of the Millbury Teachers Association (MTA) said he asked Sylvia for a copy of the policy and was told there was no policy.

Hanratty said he believed there was an unwritten policy. Murray said if that is true the policy should have been applied consistently; he said that was not the case. "I think that whatever may or may not have been said with Mrs. Stowe is irrelevant," Murray said. "The issue, as I see it, involves the posting of a position. I think the position should have been posted."

Sylvia spoke up and said, "I don't think you have a right to talk to this at all."

Hanratty noted that he had recognized Murray. "If you want to make a point, make it relative to this, Tom."

Murray again said he has never seen a policy and said he knows one doesn't exist.

Hanratty said he believed that research of previous meeting minutes would show it was voted that a substitute would not be paid the full rate until after the first 15 days. Hanratty also said exceptions were made when the committee could not hire anyone. "There has not always been supply and demand here," he said. "Sometimes it is impossible to bring someone in at $55 per day."

Marble said he thought there was a misunderstanding on Hamilton's part. "You keep saying you were going to be paid as a permanent substitute and I think you were."

Hamilton asked, "Why wasn't I informed of the policy. Why wasn't I told I wasn't going to be paid that."

Hanratty again asked Hamilton who led her to believe she would be paid $75 from day one.

Hamilton replied that in talking to Stowe she was told that the title of the position was "permanent substitute". "The policy is very misleading," she said. "If you are a permanent sub and do all the duties of a regular teacher you do not expect to be paid as a regular day to day substitute. Regular substitutes do not have those duties."

Committeeman Bruce Pease said he agreed with Hamilton. "She should have been informed." He also said that after 15 days a permanent substitute should receive the $75 pay retroactive. "Many systems do this," he said, citing Grafton and Worcester. "I personally think it should be retroactive."

Sylvia said that procedure has never been used since had has been in the Millbury schools.

Teacher Linda Tift, who was in the audience, said, "I was hired on October 7 in 1987 in kindergarten, and from day one I received the permanent sub pay."

Sylvia agreed that Tift's statement was true.

Pease moved to pay Hamilton and the two permanent substitutes mentioned previously retroactively for the first 15 days. The motion failed as there was no second.

The committee then moved on to a grievance filed by Murray that charged there was a violation of the contract under Article 5 which states that all vacant positions are to be posted. Murray said the violation occurred when the position presently filled by Hamilton was not posted. He remarked that if the position had been posted the committee wouldn't be dealing with the issue of her pay.

Murray also noted that Sylvia maintains that since the position is not in the bargaining unit it cannot be grieved. He argued that the contract does not specify that substitute positions are excluded from a posting. Murray said that as positions become available they should be openly posted. "That's just common sense, anyway," he said. "As it's posted it will be a matter of record as to the pay."

Sylvia said he did not think that Murray could speak to this issue as substitutes are excluded from the contract. "That's my interpretation," he said.

"I disagree," Murray replied.

Sylvia said the scope of the contract excludes this issue as it deals with how to deal with grievances, other working conditions, and all other aspects of the contract. He maintained that Murray had no authority to speak to those things excluded from the contract.

Hanratty said that under Chapter 150E of the general laws of Massachusetts, the business manager, superintendent and substitutes are excluded. "It is clearly spelled out that you do not have any jurisdiction over substitutes," he said.

Murray read from Article 5 of the teacher's contact with respect to open positions and reaffirmed that it was his opinion that it was clear that the position should have been posted.

Sylvia said Article 5 applies to teachers teaching under full contracts. He also said that teachers would not apply for a part time position at $55 per day.

Pease moved that the grievance be denied based on Article 5 of the contract. Marble seconded the motion. The motion passed on a 3-0 vote.

Dorothy Manor School

Sylvia recommended that the Dorothy Manor School lease be signed as the committee received authorization from the Board of Selectmen to act as agents for the town on the property. The committee concurred 3-0.

Last Day of School

The committee approved June 15 as the last regular day of school. The last day of school for seniors was set at May 18.

Computers

Sylvia remarked that committee members were in possession of information on the possible purchase of additional computers for next year. The purchase was recommended by teacher Barbara Debs at the last school committee meeting.

Oil Storage Tanks

Business Manager Sue Pierce reported on new regulations for underground oil storage tanks. She explained that an overfill device and a containment device must be in place on the oil storage tanks by May 30. The cost is estimated at $3,000. She also said that the tanks should be pressure tested since they are the original tanks and could possibly be leaking. It would cost about $400-$500 per tank for the testing. "We are talking about $18,000 for the 5 tanks, which will be in the 91-92 budget," she said.

Budget

Before adjournment at 6:45, the committee voted 3-0 to approve the school department budget of $6,595,425; the Windle Field Budget of $15,320 and the High School Athletic Budget of $70,335.

In a letter from Hanratty to Finance Committee chairman Tom Clawson, it was noted that the school department budget was increased by $150,992. According to the letter, approximately 50% of that figure was added to instructional supplies and salaries.

Board Approves Goretti Site Plan

By Andree A. Belisle

MILLBURY - At the April 23 Planning Board meeting, approval was granted for Goretti Management Corporation's site plan review, subject to a list of 16 conditions. Goretti plans to expand the building they are presently housed in on Providence Street and to create an additional parking area on land now owned by Massachusetts Electric across Riverlin Street and abutting the Blackstone River.

Among the conditions are the following: all catch basins must be installed as per plan with gas and oil traps; lighting must not be obtrusive on abutting properties; Goretti agrees to mitigate night time truck noise; access to the westerly parking lot on Riverlin Street must be chained nightly to prevent access; parking lots must not be salted; a raised walkway must be provided crossing the drive in front of the entrance to the store; a large sign must be moved at the west end of the parking lot; the dumpster/compactor must be screened; conditions established by the Conservation Commission must be met.

Telegram & Gazette

In other matters, an informal discussion took place between board members and Paul Shepherd of the Telegram & Gazette. The T&G plans on relocating its printing operations to the Millbury Industrial Park off Rte. 20.

Shepherd requested several waivers, including one for a locus plan, an isometric drawing, and a traffic impact statement. Hulseberg suggested that the T&G request the waivers in writing.

Shepherd also discussed the issue of sewer discharges, sayin his company would meet whatever requirements are necessary. "I think our fail safe position is that anything we generate that would be above the requirements, we would have the capability within the plant to drum it and put into tote bins and dispose of that off-site. The reason I've hedged at each meeting we've been to on this," Shepherd said, "is that the requirements are pretty strict. This is a new printing process and all municipalities handling it now have different requirements. We will not be able to tell you exactly so many parts per million of certain ink components will be going down the sewer. We plan to provide all the monitoring and metering tanks at places where we can intercept anything that could happen in terms of spills or over-discharging."

Jug Handle

Hulseberg reported on a meeting he attended this morning on the jughandle planned for the west bound side of Rte. 20 across from the Millbury Industrial Park. He said the town was advised that if they assisted in some of the research for the project things would move along more quickly.

Hulseberg's report explained that on April 11 and 12 a traffic counter was set up to record the number of trips that were generated from the Industrial Park. The counter revealed over 1450 trips. The park is presently only half occupied.

Also on April 12, turning count generations were completed during peak hour periods. The results revealed that 88 vehicles turned into the park while traveling 20 west during the peak periods. Another 211 vehicles turned out of the park onto 20 west during the peak hours.

On April 19, a radar unit established the speed of the flow of traffic along Rte. 20 eastbound to be 47-48 mph at the entrance to the park. Abnormalities to the rate ranged from 20 to 70 m.p.h.

Hulseberg noted that the geographic setting of the park entrance creates difficulties since the park sits at the crest of a hill. He said it is imperative that the issue of the jughandle be addressed by the state immediately.

Lewandowski praised Hulseberg for all the research he has done on the project. "Dave has been working on this very diligently," she said. "He's been out there himself doing a lot of the traffic counts and he's worked very hard trying to move this along."

Shepherd noted that once the T&G moves its offices out to the industrial park in Phase 2 of their project an additional 400 trips per day will be generated.

19 North Main Street

A scheduled public hearing on the application of Michael Venincasa for special permits relating to property at 19 North Main Street was continued to May 14 at 9:00 p.m.

Hayward Glen

Bids to complete work on the Hayward Glen Subdivision were opened and read by Lewandowski. Bids for completing Phase I of the project ranged from a high of $113,540.75 submitted by Capone Bros. of Randolph to a low of $74,243.95 submitted by Granger Lynch of Millbury. Bids for completing Phase II ranged from a high of $172,136.05 from A. Amorello of Worcester to a low of $93,389.75 from T. Amorello of Oxford.

Burke presented the program "Mr. Bones" in March and Julian presented Science Day on April 27. Students conducted experiments as part of these lessons.

Of the more than one million students taking the tests, 50,000 were chosen as high scorers. Millbury Republican Committee Holds 1st Meeting

MILLBURY - State Senate Candidate Jack Roche of Westboro opened the first meeting of the Millbury Republican Town Committee on Monday, April 30, at Millbury High School. In opening remarks, Roche said, "This must be the first Republican Town Committee meeting in Millbury since Abraham Lincoln was President."

Also present at the meeting were State Senator Paul Cellucci (R-Hudson) and State Representative Peter Torkildsen (R-Danvers). Cellucci and Torkildsen, both Republican candidates in the race for Lieutenant Governor, fielded questions from the audience, with most centering on the state budget. Both candidates expressed support for a petition that would roll back tax and fee increases. They also agreed that, if run properly, the Commonwealth should be able to get by with current revenues.

Cellucci, who was George Bush's Massachusetts Campaign Manager in 1988, told the audience, "Many Republican legislators, including me, said in early 1988 that this State was heading for a fiscal crisis during the Governor's failed presidential bid. The Democrats said it was Presidential Politics and ignored us."

When asked to describe their view on the respective roles of various levels of government, all three candidates spoke out strongly in favor of local control, particularly in the area of education. Roche said he believed the Commonwealth should be managed more like a business. Roche also said he will formally announce his candidacy for the State Senate seat now held by John Houston (D-Worcester) on May 23 in Westboro.

The next Millbury Republican Town Committee meeting will be held on Wednesday, May 16. For more information, call Bill or Nancy Pratt at 755-9743 or Committee Co-Chairman Barbara Lindstrom at 865-5990.

Moore to Seek Re-Election

WEBSTER - Calling for a "Common sense...no nonsense" approach to the state's fiscal crisis, Representative Richard T. Moore (D-Uxbridge) recently launched his campaign to return to Beacon Hill before area supporters gathered at the Elks Hall. The eighth Worcester District includes the towns of Sutton, Douglas, Millville, Uxbridge, and Webster.

Moore has been an outspoken advocate of spending cuts and reforms before consideration of new taxes. In seeking his eighth term in the Masschusetts House, he said his experience as a member of the House Ways and Means Committee and his past chairmanship of both the Taxation and State Administration committees will help him to find solutions to the state's budgetary dilemma. Saying he has a record of "performance, not promises" throughout his legislative service and as a Hopedale selectman in the 70's, Moore told his supporters that they can expect continued action to solve problems facing the district as well.

More listed his future goals at the state level as follows: 1. state budget reform and deficit control, 2. stronger anti-crime and drug laws, 3. expansion of programs to benefit senior citizens, and 4. development of an adequate and predictable level of local aid.

His action agenda of projects to benefit the people of this district are, in his words, "Ambitious, but attainable." He plans to push for expeditious replacement of the North Village Bridge in Webster and the Depot Street Bridge in Uxbridge, the resurfacing of Route 122 in Millville and Uxbridge and the "M" Route in Sutton, and continued planning for the Mass Pike-Rte. 146 interchange.

In addition, Moore said he will work for funding the proposed new Millville Elementary School and a plan to provide more accessible college level programs in the Blackstone Valley as well as implementation of the plan for the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor and plans for a French River Park in Webster. He said that he will continue to oppose the development of the Barletta commercial landfill in Douglas for environmental and safety reasons.

In addition to his membership on the Ways and Means Committee, the Uxbridge Democrat also serves as chairman of the Special Commission on Infrastructure Finance, chairman of the Blackstone River and Canal Commission, member and past chairman of the Special Commission on Tax Reform, member of the Special Commission on Growth Policy, and member of the Special Commission on the Availability of Workers in Long Term Care.

Moore was appointed by the U.S. Secretary of the Interior, upon nomination by the Governor, to serve on the Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor Commission in 1988, and currently serves as chairman of the bi-state group.

He was the primary sponsor of legislation to establish the Blackstone River and Canal Heritage State Park, and serves as Chairman of the Blackstone River and Canal Commission (1981-present). He also led the successful effort at the National level to designate an area along the Blackstone River from Worcester to Pawtucket, Rhode Island as the "Blackstone River Valley National Heritage Corridor," only the second such designation in the Nation.

In 1986, Moore organized a group of citizens from the 11 Blackstone Valley towns to sponsor a major regional event known as "Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming." The purpose of Heritage Homecoming is to encourage the growth of regional pride and cooperation, to promote tourism in the Valley, to stimulate family and community activities, to assist local non-profit organizations to further their goals, and to raise funds for Valley-wide promotional efforts, educational programs focused on the Valley's history, scholarships and Valley beautification. In 1982, he was instrumental in gaining the Valley's selection as a finalist community in the All-America Cities competition, and he successfully coordinated the 1988 selection of the Valley as one of ten "All-America Cities."

Moore is a member of numerous social, cultural, and civic organizations. He serves as a member of the Board of Directors of Tri-River Family Health Center, the Blackstone River Watershed Association, Uxbridge-Millville Housing Associates, Blackstone Valley Educational Foundation (Chairman 1986 to present), Blackstone Valley Heritage Homecoming, Inc. (Chairman, 1985 to present) and the Massachusetts Humanities Foundation (1988 to present).

Moore is a graduate of Hopedale High School, holds a Bachelor's Degree in History from Clark University, and a Master's in Student Personnel Administration from Colgate University. He is a former Associate Dean of Students at Assumption College in Worcester, served as Assistant to the President and Secretary of the College Corporation of Bentley College, and has taught History and Government at Bentley College and Quinsigamond Community College. He has also taken courses in the doctoral program at Clark University and the School of Education at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

He has also received numerous awards and citations, including the following: Mass. Municipal Association Legislator of the Year (1977), Worcester Jaycees Outstanding Young Leader (1975), Mass. Bar Association Legislator of the Year (1984), Worcester County League of Sportsmen's Club Legislator of the Year (1980), Worcester Labor Council AFL-CIO Legislator of the Year (1984), Mass. Building and Construction Trades Council AFL-CIO Legislator of the Year (1985), Worcester County Soil Conservation Service Legislator of the Year (1984), Animal Rescue League of Boston Legislator of the Year (1983), The Webster Patriot Newspapers' 1987 "Man of the Year," The Worcester County Bar Association Legislator of the Year (1989), the Massachusetts Association of School Committees legislator of the Year (1989), the Massachusetts National Guard Association Legislator of the Year (1990 - first House member so named), the Tri-Valley Elder Services George Wild Award for Service to Elders (1989). He has been cited for distinguished service by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Uxbridge, the Disabled American Veterans of Webster and of Massachusetts, the Webster Police Cadets, the Webster Pop Warner Football league, the Massachusetts Deputy Collector's Association, Tri-Valley Elder Services, Inc., Webster Senior Center, and the Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Moore is married to the former Joanne Bednarz of Uxbridge.

- Article 1, Section 12.1 of the zoning by-laws will now allow the Assistant Building Inspector to enforce the town's by-laws.
- Voters approved the creation of a new Section 12.4 of the zoning by-laws. Planning board Chairwoman Anna Lewandowski explained that the new section spells out exactly what is required of a developer for a site plan review.
- Voters approved the insertion of Sections 12.5 and 12.51 in Article 1 of the zoning bylaws which will allow the building inspector to impose fines for violations of the town's by-laws.
- Article 1 Section 16.33 of the zoning by-laws relating to restoration was also changed. Lewandowski explained that the change means that the gross floor area of a nonconforming structure cannot be increased when making repairs or rebuilding a structure damaged by fire, storm or other disaster without receiving approval from the appropriate boards.
- Also approved was a by-law change relating to billboards: "Existing billboards located on property of less than 5,000 square feet and less than fifty (50) feet road frontage as of December 31, 1989 shall be removed within ten (10) years. All other existing billboards shall be removed within three (3) years. No billboards shall be erected from this time forward."
- Articles 68 and 69 on the warrant amended Article 2, Sections 22.11 and 23.11 of the zoning by-laws. This article stipulates that anyone wanting to increase their home from a single family to a two family home now has to apply for a special permit.
- Article 70 amended Article 2, Section 24.3 of the zoning bylaws by changing the maximum building height from 40 feet to 55 feet in an industrial zone. Lewandowski stressed that the change does not apply to smokestacks and said by changing the bylaw the town may be able to entice more businesses into the town.

Joe Bianculli of Hilltop Drive argued that the by-law change was being requested for a specific company. He said the purpose of the original bylaw was to encourage non-polluting industries to come into town. Bianculli noted that any company seeking an increase in the height of their building can go before the zoning board of appeals for a variance.

Town Planner Dave Hulseberg conceded that the bylaw change was being sought for the Telegram & Gazette. "They're (T&G) looking not to have to go before the zoning board of appeals to have to fight with neighbors and abuttors who might challenge the request. We need to be competitive in an open market right now," Hulseberg said.

Grafton Street resident Bill Moore noted that failure to pass the change in height by-law would not prevent any company from obtaining a variance. He said the neighbors should be allowed to have their say at an appeals board meeting.

Jude Cristo, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, argued that the by-law should be passed because the T&G will bring in substantial tax revenue to the town.

- Article 1, Sec tion 14.6 of the zoning by-laws were amended to allow the Planning Board and the Board of Selectmen to appoint an Associate Member of the Planning Board for a term of two years.

ARTICLES INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

Articles that were indefinitely postponed sought the following:
- The establishment of a Department of Public Works.
- An appropriation to install "blue stone" at the Asa Waters Mansion.
- The purchase of pocket pagers for the fire department.
- The replacement of three overhead doors at fire headquarters.
- Money to paint the East Millbury fire station.
- $8,000 to purchase an automatic sander for the highway department.
- The establishment of special accounts for the Board of Health, Planning Board, and Zoning board of Appeals for fees collected for the use of outside consultants.
- $8,000 for a computer for the town clerk's office.
- Money to correct a drainage problem at the corner of Woodrow and Dorothy Roads.
- Money to purchase office file cabinets and furniture and relocation expenses of a new communication center in the police department.
- The purchase of a camcorder for the police department.
- Money for renovational changes in the police department.
- Money to paint the West Main Street fire station.
- Money to correct a drainage problem at 205 North Main Street.
- Money to revise the town's Master Plan.
- The acceptance of Nicole Drive, Cyndy Lane, Jackie Drive and Gilbert Way as town ways.
- Money to correct a drainage problem at 205 North Main Street.
- A request to install a bituminous concrete berm and sidewalk on West Main Street from Singletary Nook to the Auburn line.

ARTICLES DEFEATED

Articles defeated by voters included:
- A recommendation from the Millbury Water Study Committee to establish a Millbury Water District. Approval of the article could eventually have led to the purchase of Massachusetts American Water Company by the town.
- $2,875 as the town's contribution towards the support of the Blackstone Valley development Corporation.

At MCU, you can choose from a variety of options...the amount and term of the loan, with life and health insurance, if you wish.

Don't be mislead by those "low, low rates" offered by some car dealers...rates which are often inflated by such hidden factors as sticker price, trade-in value, and "dealer participation".

Make the best deal you can... and then visit the Millbury Credit Union!
